

Come Back, Como

by Steven Winn | ★★★★★

MEMOIR

Journalist Winn has written a valentine to the feisty, “chaotically demanding” dog who ransacks his family’s lives on his way to the center of their hearts. Como, a terrier mutt from a shelter, comes to the Winns “as unapproachable as anything this side of a coyote.” He tears up the rug, chews through his cage, runs away every chance he gets and wants nothing to do with Winn, who’s determined to earn his trust. (Guess what happens.) This is a sweetly written, poignant tale of puppy love.—C.L.
